Cuban Troops Pursue Rebels

Estimates Indicate 75 Dead, 75 Hurt In Bloody Revolt

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 7 (AP)—Troops and police in tanks and armored cars sealed off all entrances today to the battle-scarred naval base city of Cienfuegos in south-central Cuba.

Heavily armed patrols hunted for remnants of a band of 400 rebels that failed after nearly 24 hours of bloody fighting to capture the sugar shipping port.

State Road Job Is Given Local Firm

Will Build 3.2 Miles Along Route EE South of Longwood

A contract for building approximately 3.2 miles of state supplementary Route EE in Pettis County, from Route J, about three miles south of Longwood, southerly to a county road at Newland, now has been awarded by the State Highway Commission to the Howard Construction Company of Sedalia.

The work, grading and gravel or crushed stone surfacing, will cost a total of about $19,963. The contractor has been notified he may begin work as of Sept. 30.

Route EE begins at Route J adjacent to properties of Mrs. Helen Timberman and Morene Huffman. It extends southerly, generally following along the presently traveled roadway, passes Hopewell Baptist Church, and terminates at a county road junction, at Newland, adjacent to properties of Kenneth Smith, Uel Payne and the Hopewell Cemetery.

Route EE is another former Pettis County road which has gained permanent state highway status and improvement as such under terms of the 10-year state highway modernization and expansion program. It was first taken over by the Commission for maintenance as a temporary state route on Oct. 1, 1953. Then, after right of ways needed to improve it to supplementary highway standards were made available without cost to the state, a program requirement, it was given permanent state highway rating on June 12, 1957, and put in line for development. This contract provides for that development.

Construction will be carried out under the supervision of the Commission's District 4 office in Kansas City, of which Marvin J. Snider is the district engineer. W. J. Groves, district construction engineer, will direct the work with J. W. Gerds of Sedalia as the resident engineer in active charge.

This Pettis County improvement is among others costing about $6,449,843 and extending over 187 miles of state highways in 34 counties and the City of St. Louis on which the Commission now has completed contracts under bids received Aug. 27. The contract (Please turn to page 10 column 5)

Base Bank Held-Up; Nab Thief

Whiteman Airman Takes $12,229; Caught At Gate

A lone Negro bandit who held up the Whiteman Air Force Base bank, a branch of the People's National Bank of Warrensburg, Friday afternoon, has admitted the robbery, according to officers of the provost marshal's office. The man robbed the bank about 3 p.m. and escaped with $12,229—but for only a few minutes. He was apprehended by Air Police at the main gate to the base about 3:30 o'clock.

The man held and who, according to officers, confessed the robbery was identified by the Air Force as A/3c Melvin J. Stephenson, 21, St. Charles, Minn. He is assigned to the 340th Operations Squadron and was an alert photographer, that is, a photographer subject to emergency call.

A/1c Thomas L. Layman, 21, Comanche, Tex., who was held for a time for investigation as an accessory, was released by the authorities after it was learned he had just picked Stephenson up on the base to give him a ride to town. Layman is also assigned to the 340th Operations Squadron.

According to bank officials a second man figured in the incident. Shortly before 3 p.m. a blue 1956 Ford, believed to have been an Air Force car, drove on the parking lot and stopped. The bandit was believed to have gotten out of that car.

He entered the bank wearing a blue Air Force rain coat, buttoned up, and an overseas cap. It was reported he first walked up to Oscar Wolfrum, bank manager and pointed an automatic pistol in his face. Wolfrum was quoted as saying the man muttered in an undertone, "I'm not fooling, get your hands up." He then stepped to the next window where Miss Roberta J. Hall, cashier, was standing.

These, with maritime police and civil sympathizers of rebel leader Fidel Castro—including sons of prominent families in Cienfuegos—boosted his force to about 400.

Call for Helpers Brings Results Short of Need

A recent call for volunteer helpers to assist at the Crippled Children's Center during its new session resulted in only three new volunteers, it was announced here today by Mrs. Rudolph Swope, director of the center.

There is a great need for additional helpers at the center, since the program of training has grown in the past few months. Unless more women in Sedalia volunteer to assist at the center, which is a non-profit health and welfare organization, some of the activities may have to be curtailed, Mrs. Swope related.

One of the three volunteers last week was a young woman who had been a victim of polio quite some time ago. She advised Mrs. Swope, "I can particularly appreciate what a wonderful addition the Crippled Children's Center is to the Sedalia community. Many youngsters need rehabilitation after a crippling illness plus all the therapies offered. I felt the least I could do was to offer my services a few hours each week to this worthy cause."

Those interested in volunteering to devote as much time as they can to the center are asked to call Mrs. Swope at either 7091 during the day or at her home 5418 in the evenings.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Old grads of earlier days and harder times are going to find this hard to believe, but a brand new evil has reared its ugly head on college campuses across the nation.

Employers are using high pressure to get trained students to accept jobs. The U. S. Chamber of Commerce thinks something ought to be done about it.

The chamber takes a dim view of such practices as bidding up the salaries offered by competing firms, elaborate entertainment of prospective student employees, special payments or other gifts, using faculty members to influence the students and letting students pad their expense accounts when visiting company plants.

The chamber and the College Placement Council, Inc., today published a small booklet called "Principles and Practices of College Recruiting." It forms a sort of code of ethics for all colleges and employers, including government agencies.

Here are some do's and don'ts from the booklet:

Recruiting literature should be factual and free from exaggeration.

No special financial incentives should be given to influence a student's consideration of an employer's offer. This includes the padded expense account item, as well as scholarship aid that carries a commitment to accept employment on completion of college work.

The employer should give the student ample time to make up his mind about a job offer.

In connection with any recruiting activity, elaborate entertainment and overselling should be avoided.

After a student has declined one job offer to accept another, the first employer should not renew his proposal.

The college placement office should proctor the expenses and not charge both employers the full cost.

These rules of procedure are necessary, the chamber says, because the number of organizations actively recruiting on college campuses has increased from 1,500 before World War II to more than 6,000 today.

This is 6,000 more than some old grads can remember.

Judge Rejects Request To Postpone Integration In Little Rock School

REACTION OF BANK HOLDUP VICTIMS—The above picture shows how the first three victims of the Whiteman Air Force bank robbery Friday afternoon acted when a lone bandit announced "Get your hands up." Back to the camera is T/Sgt. Glenn E. Combs. In the rear are Miss Roberta J. Hall, cashier, and Oscar Wolfrum, bank manager. They were not quite as excited as when the actual holdup took place, but were still shaky when the cameraman took the picture. The bandit made away with over $12,000 but was captured a few minutes later. (U.S. Air Force Photo).

AIR POLICE MAKE CAPTURE—First Lieut. Donald Hareck left, with Chief Warrant Officer Edward Spando, of the Whiteman AFB Air Police who made the capture of A/3c Melvin Stephenson, Negro, who held up and robbed the base bank of more than $12,000 Friday afternoon. With them is Sheriff William Fortney, Johnson County, right, who arrived at the base a few minutes after the apprehension of the bandit. In the background is the car which was driven by A/1c Thomas L. Layman, who had picked Stephenson up to give him a ride to town. Layman was released, having no connection with the robbery. Lieut. Hareck resides at 312 West Broadway in Sedalia. (U.S. Air Force Photo).

SHAW AI RFORCE BASE, S.C., Sept. 7 (AP)—Airman I.C. Glenn E. King of Jackson, Mo., late today was found guilty of having a part in a $30,000 payroll swindle at this air base.

A court martial board deliberated 55 minutes before returning its verdict. Sentencing was postponed until Monday.

King, eighth airman to be convicted in the swindle, was charged on several counts of getting $2,472 illegally from the base payroll officer.

Seven other airmen have been convicted, discharged and sentenced to prison terms. About 30 persons are accused in the case.

Calls Plea Anemic in Refusal; Ike, Brownell View Problem

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 7 (AP)—A federal judge tightened the South's racial battle lines today with a sharp-tongued rejection of a plea to postpone integration at Little Rock Central High School where armed troops have kept Negro students away this week.

Judge Ronald N. Davies of North Dakota acidly called the plea of the Little Rock school board to delay integration because of a week of turmoil and strife "anemic" and left his previous order for immediate integration intact.

His dramatic action before a jammed courtroom left the federal government's dispute with Gov. Orval Faubus unchanged. Faubus's office said the governor would not comment immediately.

Gov. Faubus Monday night called out the Arkansas National Guard to keep Negroes away from the 2,000-pupil school, claiming he was preventing violence and disorder.

The first edition of the Post-Dispatch, an afternoon paper, was not printed Saturday morning as printers honored pickets of Local 1, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

KSD and KSD-TV, the Post-Dispatch's radio and television stations, were off the air.

Electricians are asking 35 cents an hour more over a two-year period, plus additional increases for night work. Their pay now is $3.25 an hour on the day shift.

The St. Louis Newspaper Publishers Assn., representing the two newspapers in negotiations, said it has offered 25 cents an hour increase over a two-year period.

Printers and paper handlers also refused to cross picket lines at the Globe-Democrat, a morning paper. Its late edition last night was not affected by the strike.

The two-year contract expired at midnight last night and the publishers' association and the union talked until about 4 a.m. in a last-ditch attempt to prevent a strike but were unable to come to any decision.

No further negotiation session was set for Saturday.

Barring a quick settlement, it appeared neither newspaper would be able to publish its Sunday editions.

Of the 22 electricians, 18 were employed by the Post-Dispatch and four by the Globe-Democrat.

The printers are members of International Typographical Union Local 8.

Ike Signs Bill For US Backing Of Airline Loans

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill that provides government guarantees of loans for 25 short-haul airlines and three helicopter services to purchase new equipment.

The measure was pushed through the Senate and the House late in the recent session over opposition of the Bureau of the Budget and the Commerce Department.

Sen. Monroney (D-Okl.) and Rep. Harris (D-Ark.), floor managers for the measure, contended the additional government aid was needed to enable these feeder airlines to purchase new aircraft.

The measure authorized government backing of up to 90 per cent of loans of not more than five million dollars each to 25 short-haul airlines in the United States, Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

The House added helicopter services operating in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles to the eligible list and the Senate later agreed.

Urge Strength of Faith

ABWA Hears Dr. Pugh Speak Of Disturbing World Scene

The American Business Women's Association met at the Bothwell Hotel Tuesday night with Dr. P. A. Pugh, interim pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Pugh, speaking on the subject of "World Conditions," said we should be disturbed about world conditions, and especially in our America. We should realize that war costs billions of dollars and causes the loss of many lives.

We speak of billions of dollars as if it wasn't very much, he went on to say. Incomes increase, taxes increase, and yet, when we want to improve schools and education facilities, we cannot find the money. Much money is spent for crime, liquor, sports, immorality, and Sabbath breaking. These, he said, can be a nation's downfall.

Nicholas Murray Butler, he said, estimated that enough money was spent during World War II for many people in many nations to have a home and a bank account of their own, and to endow many hospitals and universities.

We, as a people, said Dr. Pugh, need renewed consecration to ideals of free speech, freedom of the press, ideals of the home, church and school. Homes, schools and churches should be interested in each other.

Our flag, he said, is outstanding among all flags and we should show our loyalty and patriotism.

We should be willing to sacrifice and suffer for our country as did our forefathers and the signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Faith in God was the cornerstone our forefathers had. We should love and have faith in our church, country, home and school. Without pledging our faith to these we cannot survive. Let us not be lax in this faith, he concluded.

Mrs. Bertha Rose Welch

Bertha Welch New Chairman Of County UF

Mrs. Bertha Rose Welch, new general chairman of the United Fund in Pettis County and wife of John W. Welch, co-owner of Reinhart-Welch Sales Co., is a vivacious, enthusiastic citizen of Sedalia. For 31 years she was a medical assistant to the late Dr. J. E. Cannaday.

Mrs. Welch feels friendliness and willingness in helping serve Sedalia in working with the many club, church and civic organizational activities is a step to community progress. She is always helping to promote good things and when setting out to do anything gets results. Her ability to succeed in them is a good indication that, under her leadership as general chairman of the United Fund, this year's campaign will go over the top in record time.

For a number of years she has promoted many projects and worked in the capacity as an officer or director in several organizations. She is a member of the Eastern Star and very active in the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Chamber of Commerce as well as the First Christian Church. She has held state offices and county offices in numerous organizations.

Mrs. Welch believes that the United Fund goal of $75,750 can be reached easily if every citizen in Pettis County will remember the significant United Fund slogan: "Giving and Doing for Others."

Each person, Mrs. Welch said, will know they are helping humanity through every agency if they will give and do for others.

Giving one hour's pay a month is an assurance this goal will be made in the allotted time set for the drive, she believes, and volunteer workers will be striving to raise the necessary amount for agencies to carry on their work. Mrs. Welch stresses that success in raising the quota cannot be accomplished by just a few, but by the combined efforts of all working and giving together.

Mrs. Ruth Lindsey Speaks

Women of the Moose Hold Mooseheart Alumni Night

Mooseheart Alumni Chapter Night was a part of the regular meeting of the Women of the Moose on Tuesday night.

Mrs. Ruth Lindsey presented a splendid resume of the varied activities of the residents of the Child City. Graduation, she told the co-workers, marks a really important milestone in the life of a boy or girl whose formative years have been spent at Mooseheart.

Graduation exercises were held for the first time in the recently dedicated Mooseheart High School, at which time 42 diplomas were awarded to the 23 boys and 19 girls in the class of 1957. The graduates were from 12 different states and two from Ontario, Canada. Graduation was held on June 14, which is also Flag Day. In this connection, there is an interesting fact—that the first resident dentist of Mooseheart, Dr. B. J. Cigrand, who is credited with being the originator of Flag Day, June 14 is the anniversary of the adoption of the American Flag in 1777 and through the tireless efforts of Dr. Cigrand was officially designated Flag Day by Congress in 1895.

Many honors were won by Mooseheart graduates in all forms of competition. The music department was awarded seven gold medals and six silver medals at the Illinois State Music Contest. The school's track and field teams won their share at the state grade school track and field meet. Since there is no vocational program in operation during the summer, the children have an opportunity to earn money by working at various jobs on the campus, at the school

This is where the Women of the Moose come in. All the chapters, the speaker said, can have a part in this wonderful program. It has been said, she pointed out, all children should be given the chance to live freely in the out of doors. It is neither fair nor democratic, she said, to limit this opportunity. If they do not grow up to be healthy-minded, well-rounded persons, then all they learn from books will amount to nothing.

In concluding, Mrs. Lindsey urged support for the Mooseheart Alumni Summer Camp program.

This was one of the most interesting programs presented this year. Since the Chapter has no representation at Mooseheart, many of the points brought to the attention of the members were new and little known facts about the operations and objectives of the Alumni giving everyone a better understanding.

Karen Mareum, senior regent, presided over the business meeting and directed the initiation of Mrs. Alice Mock. Emblems for the chairmen have been received and will be used at the next meeting. Mrs. Julia Riley reported $36 netted from the booth at the Sidewalk Bazaar.

A smorgasbord and social hour followed the meeting.

The refreshment table was attractively arranged with miniature dolls dressed to suggest the many occupations and careers open to the Mooseheart graduates, with their diplomas beside them symbolizing their departure from the "City of Childhood."

Defects to West

WARSAW (P)—Kazimierz Jaworski, a former member of the Polish Communist government, has fled to the West, it was officially disclosed today.

He is believed to be the highest ranking Polish Communist ever to defect.

Jaworski was vice minister of construction until early this year. He then lost his job in a government reshuffle and was appointed director of the Construction Research Institute.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ross of Mt. Morris, Ill., have donated 66 acres of beautiful woodland, ideally located and boasting plenty of wild life, a picturesque creek and interesting geological formations and cliffs, affording the kids of Mooseheart a wonderful place to enjoy themselves at vacation time. The camp will be designed to allow each child, from the fourth grade through high school, to enjoy at least two weeks of summer camp.

Considering a ten-week vacation period, it will require facilities for approximately 75 boys and girls every two weeks. Even with the donation of the land, the project will need $20,000 to $25,000 supplied by the alumni and friends of the Moose.

ROUNDUP TIME ON TOMATO FARM—Virtually stretching to the horizon, acres and acres of tomato plants form a neat pattern at the B & L Farm Company in the Homestead-Redland region near Miami, Fla. B & L, the world's largest grower of tomatoes, has developed this unique monster center, to help harvest the crop, which covers some 8,000 acres in an 18-mile-long strip. The only part of the harvesting operation done by hand is the actual plucking of the fruit from the vines. The pickers spread out in front of the machine and dump the tomatoes onto the massive conveyor belts, stretching 165 feet on either side of the central unit. As the tomatoes roll to the center, they are graded and sized, and rejects are discarded. Each of the devices requires a crew of 107 men.

Wrote of His Youth

This Distinguished Missourian Was Greatest of US Humorists

Greatest of American humorists, poem, "To Miss Katie in H-L," he wrote his most famous books explaining when criticized later from the memories of his youthful impressions of the Missouri village of Florida, his birthplace, and York, Philadelphia, and Keokuk, Iowa, as a journeyman printer.

What was his background? A. Born in Florida, Mo., on Nov. 30, 1835, of Kentucky-Virginia parentage, at the age of four he moved with his family to Hannibal, a thriving river town. The cultural environment of the Hannibal-Palmyra area may have encouraged his literary interests. After his father's death in 1847, he worked as a printer's devil on the Missouri Courier.

What were his first literary efforts? A. As a pilot on the Mississippi River from 1857 to 1861, he acquired many experiences related later in his great book, Life on the river and in the West.

At sixteen, as assistant to his brother, Orion, editor of the Hannibal Journal and Western Union, later known as the Journal, he wrote feature stories and in Orion's absence tried to "pep up" the paper with the publication of the newspaper.

the Mississippi. He then went to Nevada with Orion, where he mined unsuccessfully and worked as a reporter on the Virginia City Territorial Enterprise, using for the first time in 1863 the pseudonym, Mark Twain, a river term meaning two fathoms deep. His "Jumping Frog" story, written in California in 1865, was his first national success. His humorous lectures, after a trip to Hawaii in 1866, were popular.

How did he gain world fame?

Success came to him in a flood with the publication in 1869 of Innocents Abroad, an account of his travels to Europe and the Holy Land. After his marriage to Miss Olivia Langdon of Buffalo, New York, in 1870, he reached the height of his world fame as a lecturer and an author, employing his best talent, humorous autobiography, in Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, which still rank on the best-selling list.

What was his later career?

A. His financial investments in a typesetting machine and a publishing company ended in bankruptcy in 1894, but he was able to pay his debts in full in 1898. His later writings were more serious and philosophical in nature. He was awarded the honorary M.A. degree from Yale University in 1888; the degree of Doctor of Literature from Oxford University in 1907; and the LL.D. degree from at New York University. His study, moved to Elmira College, Elmira, New York, was dedicated in 1932. The State of Missouri has erected a monument at Florida, dedicated a State park to him, and placed his statue at Riverside Park, Hannibal. His Hannibal home, with adjoining museum, and the statue of Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer at Cardiff Hill are points of interest. A commemorative stamp was issued in his honor in 1940. The Mark Twain collection of the State Historical Society of Missouri at Columbia ranks among the best in completeness and variety of editions.

What was his name?

A. Samuel Langhorne Clemens.

Parking Lots Are First Step In Long Range Program of City

Did you ever drive downtown to make a few quick purchases and fail to find a parking place?

The recent action of the City Council to purchase offstreet parking lots is the first step in a long-range program to solve just such problems in Sedalia's traffic system, according to Carleton L. Kelley, chairman of the special committee appointed by Mayor Julian H. Bagby to acquire the property for the lots.

Sedalia's parking and traffic problems can be broken down into three phases, Kelley says. The first phase is the short term parking, or those who come downtown for just a short time to run errands, go to the post office or for some similar business.

The second phase is the long term parking, or those who come downtown to spend several hours shopping and downtown employees.

The third phase is parking as related to the safe and orderly movement of traffic. Under this phase is the elimination of angle parking, set for July, 1958, parking on narrow streets, modernization of traffic control and development through streets.

Even though many people think parking on an angle is easier, Kelley says, the insurance companies have determined that it is more dangerous. People backing cars from such places have more accidents than those moving into or out of parallel parking places.

The first orderly step in eliminating angle parking is obtaining parking lots to make up for the difference in space, Kelley states. The Council plans to secure parking lots close to the areas where angle parking has been used.

One of the next steps is providing off-street parking for those who will be downtown for an extended period, thus taking these cars from the street and giving the space to short term parking.

Another irksome thing that occurs frequently around Sedalia is to be driving along and have to wait for other traffic to pass because the street is narrow and cars are parked on both sides.

A logical solution to this, Kelley explains, is to eliminate parking on one side of the street and provide space elsewhere. Someone will say, "Widen the streets." Then the chronic complainers about money would really have basis to complain.

By means of surveys of traffic engineers, the City Council has determined that parking lots are the answer to our parking problems. Limiting parking to one side of certain streets will not be done until space becomes available in parking lots.

On-street and off-street parking meter fees will be established on a basis of use and at the same time insure adequate revenue to meet bond and interest payments and cost of operation for the lots.

All metered lots will be lighted the same as streets for the public convenience and to keep down theft. Modernization of traffic signals on Ohio is also an integral part of the program to provide a smoother flow of traffic.

Choose Farms At Random For Spot Checks

Farms under Conservation Reserve contracts are being chosen at random in Pettis County for unannounced spot-checks by performance supervisors from the Missouri State ASC office, according to Carl E. Johnson, manager of the county ASC office.

The State ASC Office has announced these reporter visits especially to check on farm compliance with the ruling which forbids grazing or harvesting from land in the Conservation Reserve.

Farms for checking are chosen by state personnel from the county office rules. Farms visited in regular county spot-checks will not be included in the present compliance survey.

When state reporters arrive at the farm, they will notify the farmer of the purpose of the visit, then inspect the designated Conservation Reserve acreage to see that there has been no pasturing, harvesting, or unauthorized use of stored water on that land. The reporter will also note whether the acreage devoted to Soil Bank base crops is more than the farm's permitted acreage.

Reports of inspections will be sent to the State Office of the ASC, and farmers will be contacted by the county office if any irregularities are found.

Will New TV Year Prove Happy One?

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—As far as television is concerned, this is the start of the new year.

But will it be a happy one? If it's anything like last year, the answer is no. What a dud that one was! Except for some topnotch dramas on Playhouse 90 and a few other shows, the 1956-57 season will go down in TV history as the year the money-hungry contest winners pushed entertainment aside.

So what's ahead for 1957-58? Step right up while I gaze into my crystal TV tube.

Here are my predictions:

The paucity of comedy shows will prove a boon to the ratings of Red Skelton, Danny Thomas, George Gobel, Phil Silvers and the few remaining TV funnymen.

Steve Allen will overtake Ed Sullivan in the ratings because Allen offers a funnier show, while comedy has always been Sullivan's short suit.

NBC's ailing "Tonight" show will give up the ghost, torpedoed by the late, late movie.

The spectacles on all networks will continue to net the biggest audiences, proving that viewers crave an occasional dessert to go with their steady diet.

Lucille Ball will again draw her stratospheric ratings with the stretched-out version of "I Love Lucy" five times yearly.

Groucho Marx will have trouble with competition from the new "Mark of Zorro" show.

The public will weary of the flood of singing emcees on TV, but Frank Sinatra's one who will be among the most popular new entries.

The No. 1 TV show of the nation will be—

Oops, the crystal tube grows a bit smoggy here. I'll have that prediction for you at a later date, perhaps next June.

Public Library Notes

Many Historical Novels Are Added in Last Year

An historical novel is the most painless way to absorb history, especially the out-of-the-way bits that the textbooks don't cover. Many excellent novels based on history have been added to the Sedalia Public Library during the past year. Every period in U. S. history is represented—from the establishment of the Colonies to the settling of the West.

One of the most popular novels this year based on American history has been "The Gilded Torch," by Iola Fuller. This historical novel tells about twin brothers, members of the French nobility who joined La Salle on his explorations in America, which ended in the discovery of the Mississippi. "Sailor Named Jones," by Harvey Haislip, is another novel telling of incidents in early American history.

Many other interesting historical novels can be found at the library.

How to Put New Handle in Hammer or Ax

By MR. FIX

Distributed by NEA Service

Don't lose your head—the head of hammer, ax or hatchet, that is—over a broken handle.

The job of replacing a broken handle is not too difficult. The rule to heed is: "Handle" with care and you'll have a good-as-new tool, ready for years of useful service.

As purchased, a tool whose parts were carefully fitted for perfect balance. The "feel" of the tool in use was a result of such matching.

The settling of the West was an interesting period in American history that has provided material for a number of colorful novels. This subject is covered in Harold Davis' "The Distant Music" and Ardyth Kennelly's "Marry Me, Carry Me."

Historical events in other parts of the world have also been the basis for good novels. "Winter Quarters," by Alfred Duggan is an interesting period in American history that has provided material for a number of colorful novels. This subject is covered in Harold Davis' "The Distant Music" and Ardyth Kennelly's "Marry Me, Carry Me."

Check the stock and make sure that it is not warped. Examine the grain. It should be straight, and run the length of the material.

Don't buy painted handles. They're often less expensive than stock of prime quality, but there is no way to check grain that is covered with paint.

Your new handle should resemble the old one as closely as possible in weight, size and shape.

When removing what's left of the old handle, be careful not to damage the head of the tool or your saw. Secure handle in vise and cut off the handle close to the head. Place head in vise or on a pair of blocks. With another hammer and a blunt nail punch drive out the remaining piece of wood.

Slip the top of new handle through the head. It may be that you cannot get the handle up at the same time. . . .

First: to the nation's 12 million doctors, nurses and others who will be taking care of the sick.

Second: to policemen, firemen and workers in transportation, communications, etc. (The armed forces, for example, will get four million of the first eight million shots produced.)

If you—and enough others—do take the shots:

You'll probably have nothing more than a slightly sore arm for a day or so; the new vaccine does not have the after effects some people get from other influenza shots.

But if you—and enough others—don't:

Some morning this winter you could wake up and find your bone was barely running because half the drivers were laid up at the same time. . . .

Fire trucks answering alarms with skeleton crews; police ranks cut by a sudden wave of sickness. . . .

And even worse, you could wake up with fever, sore throat, cough and aching muscles. You hopefully dial your doctor and find he's got a fever too, his nurse is out with the flu, and he's got a list of patients just like you a yard long. That's what could happen if Asiatic flu should sweep the nation in wholesale epidemic proportions. And that's why the U.S. Public Health Service and the American Medical Association are shifting into high gear in a program to make the new vaccine available—and get you to step up for a shot in the arm.

File gently. Take the same amount off of each side. Do not alter the shape of the handle in any way.

Continue this process of filing and fitting until the head fits snugly to handle.

Saw off any excess wood flush with the top of the head.

Next step is to wedge the handle in place. You can purchase metal wedges with serrated edges or wood wedges that will do the job nicely.

Wedge slots were probably cut into the new handle before it left the factory.

You'll need at least two wedges for a hammer, three for an ax.

If you're using wood rather than metal wedges, drive in gently.

When all the way in, crush the top.

Vice Squad Raids 19 Places in Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The police vice squad raided 19 places in Kansas City early today, arrested 45 persons for gambling and liquor violations and confiscated liquor money and dice.

Fourteen police officers participated in the raids along with LeRoy Box, city liquor inspector.

In six of the places raided, police said violations were found.

Those arrested were taken to police headquarters and held until they made bonds ranging from $250 to $500 for appearances Wednesday and Thursday in Municipal Court.

Natural food of the white bass includes minnows, worms, insects, larvae, mollusks, crawfish and crustaceans.

Asiatic Flu Is No Killer But Could Paralyze Cities

By JERRY BENNETT

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Before

the coming winter is over, the chances are about one in three that you will have bared your arm for a doctor and been shot with three cubic centimeters of vaccine to ward off Asiatic flu.

That's the present goal of health officials—to have enough shots of the new flu vaccine available to inoculate 60 million persons at least by Feb. 1 and probably sooner.

If you—and enough others—do take the shots:

You'll probably have nothing more than a slightly sore arm for a day or so; the new vaccine does not have the after effects some people get from other influenza shots.

Don't lose your head—the head of hammer, ax or hatchet, that is—over a broken handle.

The job of replacing a broken handle is not too difficult. The rule to heed is: "Handle" with care and you'll have a good-as-new tool, ready for years of useful service.

As purchased, your hammer, ax or hatchet was a tool whose parts were carefully fitted for perfect balance. The "feel" of the tool in use was a result of such matching.

When purchasing a replacement handle, take head of the old implement with you and enlist your hardware dealer's assistance in choosing the right handle blank for your purposes.

Check the stock and make sure that it is not warped. Examine the grain. It should be straight, and run the length of the material.

Don't buy painted handles. They're often less expensive than stock of prime quality, but there is no way to check grain that is covered with paint.

Your new handle should resemble the old one as closely as possible in weight, size and shape.

When removing what's left of the old handle, be careful not to damage the head of the tool, or your saw. Secure handle in vise and cut off the handle close to the head. Place head in vise or on a pair of blocks. With another hammer and a blunt nail punch drive out the remaining piece of wood.

Slip the top of new handle through the head. It may be that you cannot get the handle in on the first try. With a wood rasp, gently take away some of the excess wood. Make sure that you file the handle at its top evenly all the way around.

When you can slip the head onto the handle, tap the end of the handle gently against the floor—do not pound—until the head slips down as far as it will go. Notice where it stops, remove the head and file off the part of the wood that it rested on.

File gently. Take the same amount off of each side. Do not alter the shape of the handle in any way.

Continue this process of filing and fitting until the head fits snugly to handle.

Saw off any excess wood flush with the top of the head.

Next step is to wedge the handle in place. You can purchase metal wedges with serrated edges or wood wedges that will do the job nicely.

Wedge slots were probably cut into the new handle before it left the factory.

You'll need at least two wedges for a hammer, three for an ax.

If you're using wood rather than metal wedges, drive in gently.

When all the way in, crush the top.

Pedestrian Killed By Hit-and-Run Driver

COLUMBUS, Kan. (AP)—A 91-year-old pedestrian was fatally injured by a hit-and-run driver here last night.

The victim, Sam Daniel French, died later in the Columbus City Hospital.

POSSIBLE VICTIMS OF ASIATIC "BUG," two European exchange students arriving in New York on the Arosa Sky are examined by Dr. Maurice Greenberg, director of New York City's Bureau of Preventable Diseases.

Asiatic Flu Is No Killer But Could Paralyze Cities

By JERRY BENNETT
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Before the coming winter is over, the chances are about one in three that you will have bared your arm for a doctor and been shot with three cubic centimeters of vaccine to ward off Asiatic flu.

That's the present goal of health officials—to have enough shots of the new flu vaccine available to inoculate 60 million persons at least by Feb. 1 and probably sooner.

If you—and enough others—do take the shots:

You'll probably have nothing more than a slightly sore arm for a day or so; the new vaccine does not have the after effects' some people get from other influenza shots.

But if you—and enough others—don't:

Some morning this winter you could wake up and find your bus-line was barely running because half the drivers were laid up at the same time....

"Fire trucks answering alarms with skeleton crews; police ranks cut by a sudden wave of sickness....

And even worse, you could wake up with fever, sore throat, cough and aching muscles. You hopefully dial your doctor and find he's got a fever too, his nurse is out with the flu, and he's got a list of patients just like you a yard long.

That's what could happen if Asiatic flu should sweep the nation in wholesale epidemic proportions. And that's why the U.S. Public Health Service and the American Medical Association are shifting into high gear in a program to make the new vaccine available—and get you to step up for a shot in the arm.

And since there won't be enough vaccine to go around right away, what happens if you can't get your shot—and the Asiatic "bug" hits you?

Doctors aren't worried about a high death rate similar to the flu epidemics of 1918-19 when influenza was something new and the medical world had to start from scratch against a virus that mowed all the way.

If you have to wait a little while when you do step up, however, it's because the big fear of health authorities is the way an epidemic could paralyze whole cities.

But the epidemic is expected to strike before that time. Asiatic flu already has hit about 13,000 Americans. Since this means many more have been exposed to the disease, officials fear chances of winter weather triggering an epidemic are strong.

And since there won't be enough vaccine to go around right away, what happens if you can't get your shot—and the Asiatic "bug" hits you?

Base Bank

Bank Manager Wolfrum notified the Air Police and an immediate search of the base was started and all gates notified to begin searching automobiles.

About 3:30 p.m. the cars were passing through the gates and being stopped. The sixth car, a 1950 Ford automobile, containing two Negroes, was waiting its turn.

Chief Warrant Officer Edward Spando, approached the vehicle and informed the occupants he desired to search the car and at the same time noted two zipper bags in it. When he started to reach in for a bag, the man identified as Stephenson grabbed for his own coat and Spando grabbed his hand.

"I'm not going to shoot you," Stephenson was reported as saying to Spando, who replied "I know you're not." Spando then called for help and 1st Lt. Donald S. Harcey went to his assistance.

Layman had already left the automobile to go to the back and open the trunk when Spando told him he desired to search the car, as was being done to all vehicles passing through the gate. He was outside the vehicle on the opposite side when the scuffle between Stephenson and Spando started.

It. Harcey arrived and they pulled Stephenson from the automobile. Stephenson had the automatic pistol in his belt, the gun fully loaded and the hammer back. He made no effort to pull the gun from the two Air Police officers.

Lt. Harcey resides in Sedalia at 312 West Broadway.

Sgt. Combs in the meantime drove up to the Main Gate and got out of his car stating he could identify the man. No sooner had he arrived at the car in which Layman and Stephenson were in, according to the Air Force authorities, than he pointed Stephenson out, as the man.

In one of the bags was found over $12,000, and the two men were taken into custody. Stephenson gave up the .32 caliber automatic pistol.

Driving the car was Layman who insisted he had nothing to do with the affair and that he had just picked Stephenson up to give him a ride into Sedalia.

It was reported that as soon as Stephenson left the bank, he returned to his barracks where he changed into civilian clothes. Then, leaving the building, he saw Layman and was invited to ride into town. His taking time to go to change clothes was enough to allow the victims to warn the Air Police and alert all outside gates to start immediate "shake down" of cars leaving the base.

Both men were dressed in civilian clothes at the time of their arrest.

They were taken to the Provost Marshal's office where they were questioned. The Federal Bureau of Investigation was also notified and conducted an investigation.

Sheriff William Fortney of Johnson County, and Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle of the State Highway Patrol upon being notified of the robbery went immediately to the base, arriving a few minutes after the apprehension.

Stephenson, being detained in the guardhouse at Whiteman AFB, is to be released to a deputy U. S. marshal on Monday morning to be taken to Kansas City for arraignment before a United States Commissioner. According to Air Force officers, charges have been filed against Stephenson in the federal court in Kansas City of armed robbery of a bank.

Sedalia Police records show a Melvin Stephenson of the 340th Operations Squadron having been arrested in Sedalia on April 6, 1957 on charges of fighting and assaulting A/C Levern Hollingsworth and being fined $10 for fighting and $15 for assault to which charges he pleaded guilty.

Mr. Martin's body is at the Ewing Funeral Home.

Self of the home; and four sisters: Mrs. Wilma Stogsdill and Mrs. Alleen Elmore, both of Portland, Ore.; Mrs. Kathryn Wilson, Astoria, Ore., and Mrs. Anita Whittle, Emporia, Kan.

Pallbearers will be Charlie Self, Earl Steele, Charlie Combs and Walter Burns, all of Syracuse; Elmer Fowler, Otterville and Leonard Woolry, Smithton.

Ike Vetoes Two Bills As Being Inflationary

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—President Eisenhower today vetoed two bills raising the pay of 1½ million civil service and postal workers.

He said the bills that called for $50 million-a-year pay boosts, would contribute unnecessarily to existing and incipient inflationary pressures in our national economy.

Eisenhower gave four other reasons for withholding approval of the measures passed in the closing days of the session just adjourned. They were:

"They are not justified by considerations of equity; they would materially accentuate existing disparities in the pay scales; they would increase total federal expenditures so as to make large plus hundreds of many other exciting prizes.

Senator Hits 2 Term Limit For President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7 (AP)—Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.) said today the no-third-term amendment has made President Eisenhower "in effect a lame duck President" and has hampered the administration's

But Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) said the Democratic-controlled Congress did rather well by Eisenhower's proposals despite what Neuberger called presidential "lascivious."

And Sen. Kuchel (R-Calif.) said in a separate interview he could find no evidence of any Republican move to desert the President or his program despite the fact that Eisenhower is barred by constitutional amendment from running again.

"In fact," Kuchel said, "I find that most Republicans who intend to run again next year are looking forward hopefully to the endorsement of the President."

Ives said in a recorded radio program for broadcast by New York stations that Republicans were "plagued by the problem of divided government" in the last session of Congress. He said that while it was not a do-nothing Congress, "from the viewpoint of the White House, this session can only be regarded as a failure."

"Democrats controlled the House and Senate, dominating the all-important congressional committees in which so much of our legislation is shaped," Ives said.

For Those Interested in Art

The Boonslick Regional Library has just acquired three new books in the field of art. Two are guides for prospective artists. The other is a picture biography of one of today's famous artists.

"How to be an Artist" by Simon Lissim is written for the amateur who wishes to express himself creatively. The author helps the reader to choose the medium best for him: pencil, oil, watercolor, pen or ink.

For the hobbyist who wishes to take his work more seriously, Lissim suggests other books to read, discusses whether or not he should have a studio, and tells how to qualify for various fields of commercial work. He also tells how to organize an exhibit, where to exhibit, and how to price pictures.

Arthur L. Gupstill in his tenth and last book on art techniques furnishes a guide of condensed instructions for the beginner in Watercolor Painting Step-by-Step." The book describes necessary equipment, the beginning steps, color mixing and matching, and tells how to paint still lifes and outdoor scenes. The book concludes with demonstrations of work

Smith-Cotton Football Drills Attract 62 Varsity Candidates

The stars are shining, but they are all in the skies at the present time as far as the Smith-Cotton high school football team is concerned. As far as Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow is concerned he has an array of fine material, a great bunch of boys, but he isn't tagging "star" on any individual "and that's the way I like it," was the comment of Coach Dow.

It is almost a "believe-it-or-not" deal this fall as far as material is concerned. Friday night there were 62 boys out practicing, and it has been running that way since practice started. Dow reported it is the largest number of boys in his history of coaching here.

From a survey of the 62 boys they are, for the first time, a union bunch as far as morale is concerned, as far as a desire to play is concerned and a willingness to put in the time and right down to earth hard work. An attentive group willing to learn and anxious for the first game to be called. As to class of boys the figure is just about evenly divided between the Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors.

At the start of the season there were 20, 1956 lettermen back for football. (Dow put a lot of letters off last fall.) As of Friday night only 18 of those 20 have proven they really earned the letter and are still working for a berth on the 1957 team, two of them apparently couldn't produce or take it.

Competition grew great this year with a number of newcomers out to make the team. So great was the competition the lettermen are finding it mighty tough to keep up their reputation, but they have buckled down and are producing for the coaching staff.

Coach Dow and his two assistants Howard Glavin and Bob Edmondson, are finding it a little difficult in picking the squad. They are going into somewhat of a platoon squad, offensive and defensive players. All the boys are working so hard the coaches will not come down to facts and name any one player who even might be a starter in the opening game next Friday night at Fulton.

Of the eighteen returning lettermen a run down on them shows the Tigers have Dick Smallwood, senior, quarterback; Karl Kasak, a junior, fullback; four halfbacks, Marshall Bryan, senior, who broke a finger in the Raytown game last year but isn't having any trouble this year; Tommy Herrick, a senior; Bill Reed and Bob Garrison, both juniors, and Peter Lamy, both seniors. Three guards, with two seniors, Perry Fairfax and Edward Schwartz, along with John Cross, a junior, Dick Sklar, senior, and Guy Smith, a junior, are two of the centers.

Some of the 1956 "B" team boys who are out are Melvin Brown, a junior halfback, Ned Kehde, senior, fullback, Gary Hickman, a senior, quarterback who is small but a fast thinker, and Dennis Whitfield, a junior who was not eligible in '56 but stayed the whole season in practice sessions pointing to 1957.

Bert Thomas, a senior, who went out for the game as a freshman, but did not return, is back out this year. He tips the scales at 185 and a good prospect for a guard position. Wilton Ray, a junior, is another good guard prospect.

The sophomore class produced the greater number of prospective players for this season, 24 boys out for the practice daily, with a few more who have not been too regular.

The Eighth Grade and Freshmen squad is getting daily workouts the same as the Varsity and there appears among the youngsters several good prospects with more to build.

Coach Billy Sid Kennon and Russ Gilmore are handling these coming football players.

South American Rated Favorite For Denver Bout

DENVER, Sept. 7—P—Alex Miteff, rugged 22-year old heavyweight from Argentina who beats with his fists, hopes for a short night's work Tuesday against veteran Johnny Holman of Chicago.

They're scheduled for 10 rounds at the Denver Coliseum in a bout set for about 11 p.m. (CST). The fight will not be televised or broadcast.

Miteff, a cautious talker on the subject of his fighting, acknowledged "I don't like to work too much." That was as close as he'd come to saying whether or when he'd dispose of Holman.

Fans who've watched the husky from Buenos Aires work out here are predicting a victory for him against Holman, who was ranked No. 5 among the heavyweights after he stopped Ezzard Charles.

Holman, 6-foot-2, 205 pounder, in the ninth on April 29, 1955, isn't ranked now. His 31-15 record includes 18 knockout victories. He's been stopped five times, the latest on Oct. 24, 1956 by Eddie Machen.

Sedalia's John Simmons Plays In National Amateur Golf Meet

Alternate Berth On Missouri Team Provides Chance

John Simmons, Sedalia's outstanding young golfer, will tee off Monday at the Country Club in Brookline, Mass., in the 57th National Amateur Championship.

Simmons is one of 200 survivors from the original entry of 1,592 players seeking to claim the crown vacated by suspended champion Harvie Ward of San Francisco.

The 18-year-old Sedalian won an alternate berth on the Missouri delegation in the state qualifying tournament in Kansas City by firing a 74-79, good for a fourth place tie. In a sudden-death playoff John bested Glen Oatman on the third hole after the two had tied on the first two tries.

The chance for Simmons to participate in the National Amateur came when Missouri champion, Tom Stevenson, dropped out because of illness in his family. Other members of the Missouri contingent are Bill Stewart, Springfield, State Amateur Champion, and Jerry Krause, Junior Champion of Kansas City. Simmons and Stewart departed for Brookline late aboard a TWA plane Thursday night and Krause followed Friday. They will room together in Brookline.

John, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Simmons, 2306 First Street Terrace, started playing golf five years ago and has been appearing in tournaments regularly since that time. However, this marks his debut in the big one. In the 1957 State Amateur Tournament he qualified with a fine 74, but was ousted in the second round.

Last year John was a freshman at Oklahoma State (A & M) and was the third man on the Aggie golf team. This year he has enrolled at Missouri University and eventually hopes to gain a spot on the Tiger's varsity links squad.

At the Sedalia Country Club John is known as an aspiring and hard working golfer. During the summer he has fired countless practice rounds and now shoots in the 74 to 76 neighborhood with consistency. Although John isn't at Brookline merely for experience, he is sure to gain some fine seasoning in competition with the top notch amateurs from Britain and the United States.

Population Increase Marks The Progress of Marshall

By LESLIE G. KENNON
Missouri Division of Resources and Development

Its population on the increase, an alert citizenry, an important agricultural market, and a varied and expanding industry marks the progress in the north central Missouri city of Marshall.

Marshall has a story to tell—of new homes, a stable, employment record, new construction, a face lifting to its retail business establishments, one of the most outstanding park systems in the nation, athletic recognition through its college and, above all, a cooperative, progressive spirit.

Its Chamber of Commerce is so active through its dozens of programs the local citizenry know the Chamber is there to help them and the city. Arriving in the city, I asked a farmer the way to the Chamber office. Without hesitation and with a smile on his face, he guided me, a visitor, to the Chamber building. This is unusual in itself in a community. Not all of them are alert to its service organizations.

Marshall, with its new population estimated at 10,500 (based on the number of new homes, new jobs, etc.), is a processing center and market outlet for hybrid seed corn. Agriculturally, milk, eggs, poultry, and feed crops are the mainstays and its manufacturing produces shoes, lumber, dairy products, agricultural feed, concrete blocks and precast concrete piling.

It has 362 firms with 381 different occupations. In fact, a 1954 survey by the University of Missouri showed 5,077 workers employed, with 79.6 per cent of these living within the city.

Example of its industries are International Shoe, F. M. Stamper, Kraft, Hormann Meat, MFA Seed Division, DeKalb Agricultural Association, Red Comb Pioneer, Doyle Manufacturing Printing, Saline County Asphalt, Quinn Construction, and L. M. Marcus Company (not actually a manufacturer, but a nationally-known installer of power piping).

Progress-wise, the town has kept pace with modernizing. In 1954, a new downtown street lighting program was installed at a cost of $35,000 and the city has a municipal trash and garbage system.

A new National Guard Armory (Quartermaster) was built in 1955 at a cost of $200,000 (with a motor pool building adjacent). The Missouri State School for rehabilitation rooms over 500 acres and rents another 225 acres. Its total value is estimated at $6,179,862 and its 325 employees draw more than $1,000,000 annual payroll.

It has an airport, and plans are for paving runways and attempting to get a scheduled airline to service the city. The airport administration building was built for $85,000 and the field covers 140 acres. As an example of its usage, its 12 hangars are all rented and in one recent 15-day period, 54 visiting planes landed there, including ones from Illinois, Texas, Iowa, Indiana, Ohio, Tennessee, Kansas, Nebraska, Alabama and Colorado.

Two industries—Hormann Meats and Kraft—have expansion programs under way. Kraft has just installed a new egg dryer which is one of the largest in the world. Hormann is a home grown industry beginning with a truck route in 1951. In 1956, an expansion program brought the value of the Missouri Pacific and G M & O railroads, headquarters of Brooks Truck Lines and contains an Orscheln Truck terminal and is served by the Greyhound and Des Moins-Springfield bus lines.

Its rich agricultural area contributes heavily. Recent figures showed Saline County's buying income at $33,000,000, its farm income at $20,000,000, and its retail sales in excess of $25,000,000.

Recreation-wise, the city is loaded. It maintains a Teen Town, two theaters and a drive-in, a race track, an annual Saline County Fair, an annual picnic and homecoming (to be held Sept. 1, 1957, for the first time), a bowling alley, etc.

But, in this field, the city boasts one of the finest municipal parks in the nation — Indian Foothills Park — and certainly one of the best organized community (year-round) recreation programs. The park includes a 15 by 100 foot swim pool (with sand beaches, a kiddies pool, a roof garden for dancing atop a modern building—and even hair dryers for the gals); a stadium for baseball and softball; two lakes for fishing; picnic areas and playgrounds and elaborate lodges; archery, cement tennis courts, shuffleboard, cement croquet courts (all lighted) and a beautiful nine-hole grass green golf course. The park has an overall coverage of 240 acres and an annual park and recreation budget of $50,000.

The city is also proud of Missouri Valley College which has gained national recognition for Marshall through its outstanding athletic teams. Its football squad won 41 games after World War II—the longest consecutive winning streak for a small college in the entire nation. It has won a total of 125 games, lost only 17 and tied ten from 1938 to 1956, has played in the Cigar Bowl three times, plus Marshall is another of Missouri's progressive cities. It has come a long way since founders named it for Chief Justice John Marshall, and, with its alertness and modern attitude, it promises to take a big place in Missouri's future economic picture.

Activity-wise, the park is always full: fishing rodeos, flower shows, horse shows, push-mobile races, Easter Egg hunts, etc. Clinics for coaches and instruction in conservation and on nature. In the win-

About Teen-Age Decency

One youth who gets into trouble can stigmatize an entire group with which he associates.

Nevertheless for all the teen agers who get into trouble there are millions who are well behaved, who perform their daily business of helping around the house, making progress in school, attending Sunday school and church, contributing something to community service.

These citizens of tomorrow quietly go about winning achievement awards and other recognition without much fanfare. Their activities are not sensational and when recorded in the public prints do not command attention of the reader with the same avidity as a juvenile crime story.

Nevertheless the good stories about the 4-H'ers, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and dozens of other youth groups are recorded in the small town newspapers where the information is more intimate. In Prescott, Arizona, 63 youngsters volunteered to operate the community swimming pool, then raised money to provide a much-needed clubhouse for teens by selling Youth Bonds, while in California the Art Club of Chula Vista High School decided to show the importance of art in community life by putting on the community's first all school student art exhibition.

Another wholesome aspect in the treatment of good news about teen agers is a recent round up of youth activities by Parents' Magazine which comes as a reminder that the majority of the nation's juveniles are decent, law-abiding citizens. One hundred and twenty-one young people's organizations will receive awards for the contributions they have made to community life.

In Leland, Michigan, a Boy Scout Troop hauled 66 tons of rock from a twenty-five mile radius to aid the spawning of trout, as part of a conservation program that also included the planting of 453,900 trees to eliminate soil erosion. The thirteen-year-olds also designed Marten houses for insect control which have become a pattern

Story of Successful Atlas False Alarm

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON—The report that America beat Russia into the air with a successful intercontinental ballistics missile, supposedly fired 2,400 miles over the Atlantic, is unfortunately mistaken.

The Air Force has tested only one Atlas, which began wobbling in flight and was destroyed by a ground safety officer before it shot out of sight. Our only other ICBM, the Titan, is still under construction in Denver. It probably won't be ready for testing until the first of next year.

Strictly speaking, the Air Force developed the first intercontinental missile a year ago. This was the subsonic Snark, a winged missile, which can be shot down by jet fighters and is already considered obsolete.

Each experimental Atlas is known inside the Air Force by its number. No. 2 is now mounted in its launching stand at Cape Canaveral, Fla., waiting to be fired. The trigger date, of course, is top secret.

What might have been mistaken for a successful Atlas was the X-17, a three-stage missile that the Air Force has been using to blaze trails for the Atlas along the edge of space. Four stories tall, the X-17 has been fired to tremendous heights to duplicate conditions the Atlas will encounter.

Meanwhile, the Russians definitely are known to be testing multiple-stage missiles in the Arctic. These missiles are specially designed to be launched in frigid climates—ominous news—since the Polar route is the shortest distance to American targets. Russia has at least 20 major bases, each with a string of 20 or more launching sites, scattered along her northern fringes.

Nickerson Story

Inside story can now be told of how the Army's heavy-handed inspector general, Lt. Gen. David Ogden, almost muffed the investigation of Col. John Nickerson.

Ogden started out to find how Drew Pearson got a memo containing classified information on guided missiles. Before Ogden realized it, he had stirred up the most controversial court-martial since Gen. Billy Mitchell was drummed out of the Army for championing air power.

The mysterious memo writer turned out to be a young West Pointer, Colonel Nickerson, who

BOSWELL (Pa.) NEWS. COUNSELING IS IMPORTANT. School is about to begin again for another year and thousands of confused youngsters will meet equally confused teachers in this diploma mill type education which has been ground out for the past several years throughout the country.

Counseling is important and it should be taken seriously. It should begin in the early years of school with the aid of both teachers and parents. Too often counseling is a one-way affair ending up with the student arranging his course in such a manner as to present him with a wealth of study halls in his senior year. To a senior boy who has been able to do this—he has succeeded.

Quite often the parents are unaware of what subjects their children are taking in school, and almost as often, they are very much distressed to learn that their little darling who had made such high grades in high school was unable to pass entrance examinations to a college or university. When this happens, the parents all too illogically blame the colleges...

Animal Trainer Finds Whales Are Willing Water Students

IN TRAINING: Bubbles, a 13-foot pilot whale, leaves the water to clear a wooden beam suspended above the water by cable. Accorded to the trainer, whales are just as smart as dogs.

PORTUGUESE BEND, Calif. —Can you imagine a whale dancing rock 'n' roll style? Or high jumping, weight lifting, shaking hands? And "singing"?

Teaching a Leviathan to perform these and other feats is a cinch, says a young animal psychologist named Kent Burgess. All it takes is a police whistle, a small mountain of cut up squid, and endless patience.

Burgess is using the same technique on the whales he has used successfully on porpoises, rabbits and chickens—the psychological principle of reinforcement. Basically, it consists of rewarding the performer for a job well done. The reward: a morsel of its favorite food.

Psychologist Sees Change In People's Cultural Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Will men ever be equal to women?

That is the greatest sex drama in America during the 20th century.

Male optimists see many signs to indicate that man's long struggle for equal rights will have a hopeful outcome.

Slowly and artfully men have lured women into the pursuit of many prerogatives while they themselves have steadily infiltrated in the opposite direction and begun to share in privileges formerly enjoyed only by women.

As a result the superficial differences between the sexes has narrowed to a point where a psychologist observed this week:

"A new cultural pattern is emerging in which hardly any activity or attitude is 'exclusively masculine' or 'exclusively feminine' anymore."

Each sex is trading the other sex its own particular pleasures and duties.

Today's wife can talk baseball and politics, likes to fish, years to go on a safari to Africa, hates to sew on buttons. But so does today's husband.

"Doesn't all this prove that men are at least equal to women?" asks the boisterous optimist.

No indeed.

Man has always enjoyed more muscle, brains, charm and character than woman. But woman has an inner resource that has always carried her to the top in the past and probably always will.

Some call this resource woman's "sixth sense." It isn't actually a sense at all, and doesn't really make sense.

Woman's natural superiority consists only in this: The blind laws of chance bear inexorably down on man but chivalrously spare her. Woman is born lucky. Man isn't. That's all there is to it.

Fifty men and one woman, all desperately anxious to get to the railroad station to catch a train, will step into a crowded street on a snowy day. One cab will loom out of the flying flakes, and the woman will get it—by pure chance not through the gallantry of the cab driver. She will catch her

"SEADRAGON" CLASS SAMPAN: Sea-going sports car?

Writer Turns Junkman-- And the Junk's a Yacht

By WARD CANNEL
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Now that all the little jokes have been made, the Transient Boat Co. is ready to do business with anybody who wants to buy a Chinese junk.

For the uninformed, the junk—or sampan—is a cross between a sailboat and a front porch. This particular "Seadragon" class is 25 feet long, seven feet across the beam and has more living and storage space than most New York apartments.

The whole thing is the realization of an inscrutable dream of a writer named Charles Schreiber to do with 40 per cent is the junk deal's profit, the cost is still below American prices. An American-built boat of the same dimensions, work and material would run about $8,000—without being able to boast the bamboo-and-canvas awnings which protect both cabin and afterdeck.

"This is no curiosity," Schreiber said. "This is a real boat. Good, comfortable. Durable. It should sell."

And with the nation's pleasure boating market well over the $1.4 billion mark last year, the Transient Boat Co. figures:

"Americans are ready for a foreign sports car on the high seas."

DITTO DOES DITTO—When Dr. Bill Ditto, right, a Greensboro, N.C., orthodontist, broke his leg, his father, H. Y. Ditto, of Charlotte, N.C., arrived to help out while Bill was confined to bed. Dad promptly broke his ankle when he slipped on a curb. Now Ditto lies in a hospital bed, his leg in a cast. His son lies beside him, ditto. This is the first time the elder Ditto has dittoed the younger Ditto. Heretofore Bill's experiences have followed the pattern set by his father.

Spectacular Producer Sits On Sidelines

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—MR. Spectacular is just a television spectator now.

If this be irony, it doesn't bother Max Liebman.

"I assure you there is no bitterness," says the man whose "ML Presents" insignia used to dance all over the nation's screens as producer of everything from "Your Show of Shows" to an unending array of what were known as "spectaculars."

After eight years of frantic coaxial frenzy he is sitting this season out. Even so, Liebman is ruefully concerned over the new airwave pattern. He feels the medium is largely evolving through a phase of "surrender of the artists to the businessmen."

Liebman feels that the scramble for "lowest cost per thousand" (TV's term for getting the biggest audience at the lowest budget) will "inevitably lead into the same rut" that he says blighted radio's heyday.

"The trend is to latch onto anything that is getting the rating at the moment," he says. This he feels siphons every effort to attempt the different, the unusual, the idea that might open new paths.

Although he is still collecting a healthy salary under a five-year contract with NBC, LIEBMAN says he has not yet "met the people who are in charge of programming now. What I can deliver is not wanted at this time."

Although he is still collecting a healthy salary under a five-year contract with NBC, LIEBMAN says he has not yet "met the people who are in charge of programming now. What I can deliver is not wanted at this time." But some of these days, he is sure, "The most gratifying form of all entertainment, comedy, will have to get another chance."

SAC Aero Club members will hold a meeting in the service club Sept. 10 at 7 p. m. to elect a new board of officers.

At present the club has a single-engine two-place Beechcraft T-34 "Mentor" trainer and expects to purchase a lighter aircraft for beginners in the near future.

Base officials have granted the club use of a 3000-foot landing strip between the 8th and 9th hole on the new golf course.

Sedalian Is Serving At Marine Air Base

Marine Pfc. Richard A. Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bennett, 114 East Seventh, is serving with Marine Air Base Squadron-37, a unit of the Third Marine Aircraft Wing at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, Calif.

Officers Wives Foster Parents To Korea Waif

A Korean war orphan, Huh Myung UK has been supported by the Whiteman officers' wives club since October 1955, under the foster-parent plan, according to Mrs. Margaret Berberich, club reporter.

In addition to the monthly support allowance, the club, as collective foster parents, also sends him birthday and Christmas gifts.

The boy's father died prior to the war and he lost his mother during an evacuation of his home town. He and his sister managed to reach relatives in South Korea, but were sent to an orphanage because the relatives were unable to support them.

The New York office selects the orphan to be adopted by an organization or individual. For the protection of the children, the location of the orphanage is not disclosed, Mrs. Berberich said.

New AF Doctor Assigned to Base

Capt. Robert W. Soll, a medical doctor, was assigned to duty with Whiteman's 4236th Hospital Monday.

The captain entered the AF Aug. 1, this year, and reported to Gunter AFB, Ala., for a one-month orientation. Whiteman is his first assignment.

Capt. Soll's home of record is Northwood, Iowa. He attended Wartburg college, and the University of Iowa for pre-medical studies and graduated from the Iowa U. college of medicine in 1956.

He presently resides at 2428 Woodlawn Ave., Sedalia, with his wife Shirley Mae and their daughter Elizabeth Ann.

10 Days Vacation Set By On-Base School

A look at the 1957-58 school year shows that Whiteman pupils will have ten days vacation during the year, in addition to weekends.

They will have holidays on Oct. 10-11 while their teachers attend the district teachers' meeting, two days for Thanksgiving, Nov. 28-29, five days for Christmas (not including the weekends), Dec. 23-Jan. 1, and April 4, Good Friday. School will close Friday, May 23.

Roman coins he bartered for in North Africa, bits of pottery from the Old World and hundreds of color slides of Indian ruins in New Mexico.

The chaplain has lectured extensively on his findings, tying them in with the Bible when possible. He is principally interested in archeology from a Biblical viewpoint.

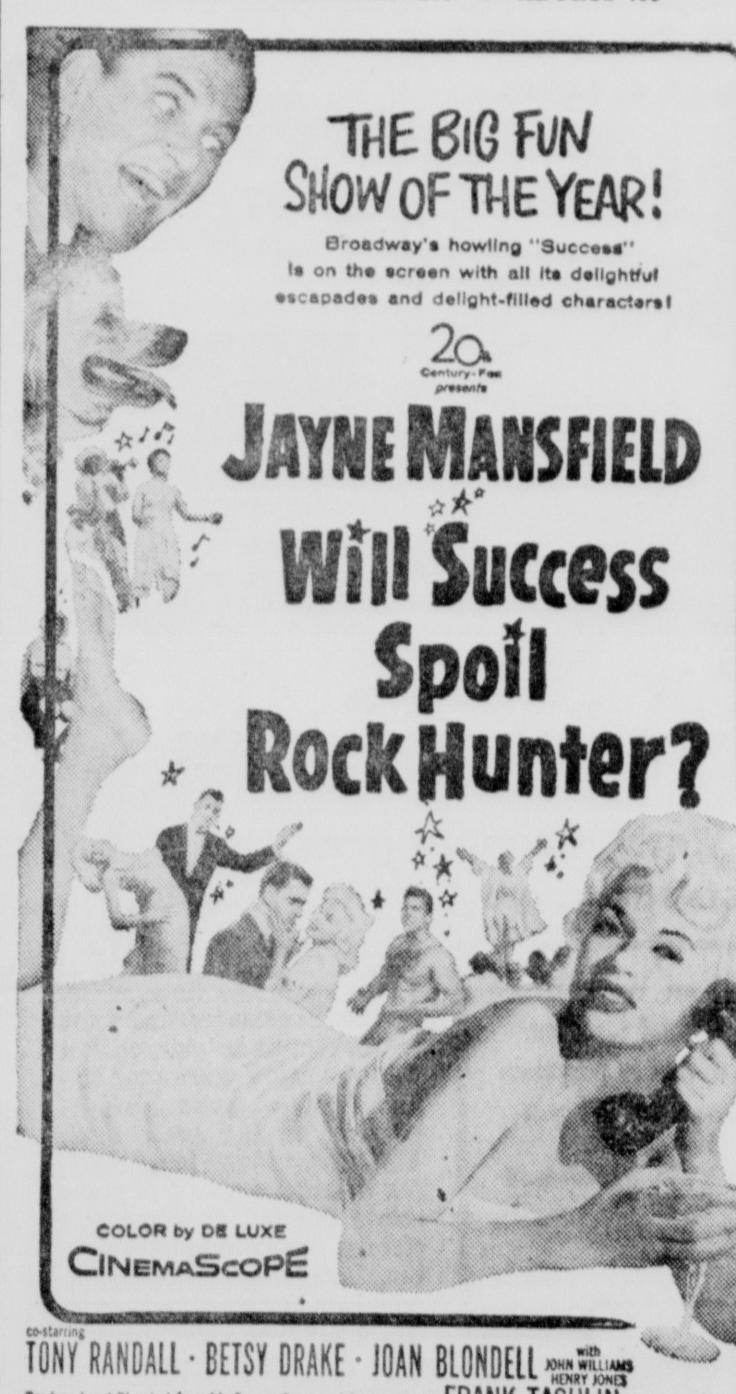

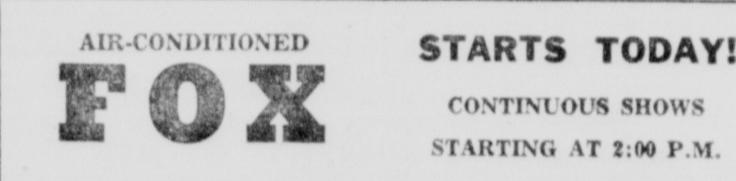

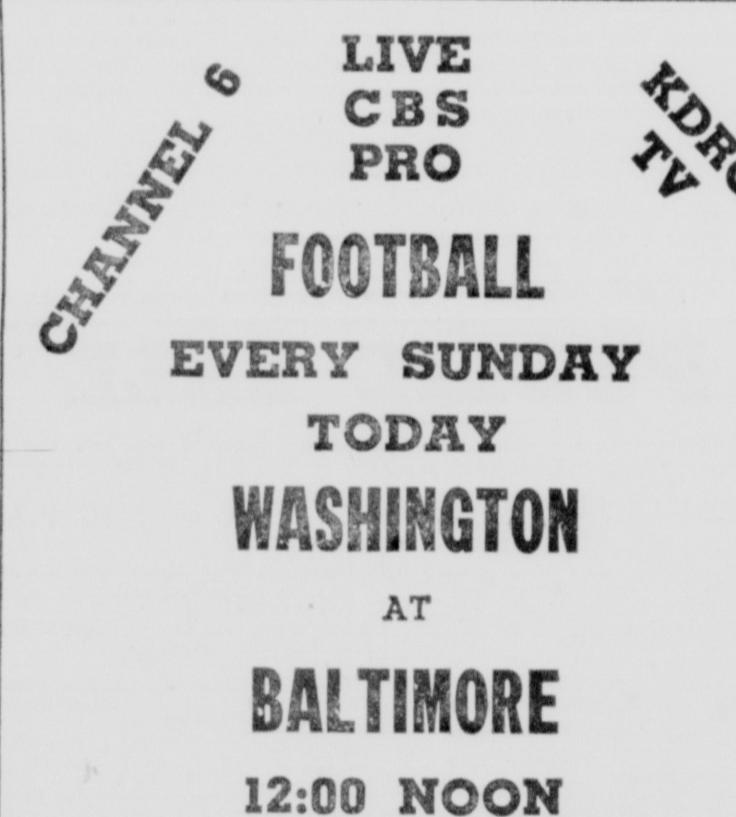

What's next on the agenda for him? Some digging this fall with a group of Sedalia school boys in Indian caves near Sedalia.

Turbulent times face Stewart Granger and Rhonda Fleming when Granger returns to his ranch home and finds that his reputation as a gun fighter and card cheat has preceded him. This scene is from "Gun Glory," exciting new M-G-M outdoor action drama in CinemaScope and color, opens today at the Uptown Theatre. The companion feature "Decision Against Time" is a suspense drama, also showing today, Monday and Tuesday.

Farmers Urged To Report Data On Production

Pettis County farmers who wish to take part in the 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve program were urged to bring information on their farm's past production history to the county ASC office soon.

C. A. Staples, chairman of the Pettis County ASC committee, said that each farmer is responsible for furnishing the information needed to establish the farm's Soil Bank base, which is a new feature of the 1958 Soil Bank Acreage Reserve program. There is a base provision already in operation under the Conservation Reserve program.

The county ASC committee will establish each farmer's Soil Bank base on the basis of the average number of acres the farmer had planted in crops for harvest during 1956 and 1957, except certain hay crops. This Soil Bank base must be established before the farmer can sign his 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve agreement.

Staples said that where a farm already has a "base" established under the Conservation Reserve program, that base will apply.

The signup for the 1958 winter wheat Acreage Reserve program began Aug. 26 and will close Oct. 4.

In Pettis County, the per-acre rates of payment on land in the winter wheat Acreage Reserve will vary from the average county rate of $31 per acre, according to the relative productivity of the land. Farmers who took part in the 1957 Acreage Reserve program and put the same land into the Reserve in 1958 will get a 10 per cent premium above their 1958 compensation rates.

The United States grows more than 70 per cent of the world's corn crop.

First of Triple Observances

Sisters' Day Is Celebrated At St. Andrew's in Tipton

Sunday, Sept. 1, marked a memorable day in Tipton on which the first of the triple celebrations of the centennial of St. Andrew's Catholic Church took place.

The Sisters who came for Sister's Day assembled in the auditorium of Kueper Center to walk in procession to the church. At 9:35 the bells began to ring to announce the festivities about to begin. As the crossbearer, Edwin Schmidt and the acolytes, Vincent Schreder and David Schmidt entered the church, the organ pealed forth.

Harry Reven and Norman Hainen acted as ushers for the Sisters who took their places in the front pews of the church. Then followed the officers of the Mass: the Rev. H. J. Breit, pastor, celebrant; the Rev. Harry Cavanaugh, assistant pastor, deacon; Vincen Linnebur, sub-deacon, and John Fischer, master of ceremonies.

With Sister Aronica at the organ, the Sisters sang the Mass. In his sermon, Father Breit welcomed the Sisters, particularly the daughters of the parish, who had returned home to celebrate this festal day.

Father Breit spoke words of high praise for the work of the Sisterhood in general, be it in the classroom, or hospital, or orphanage or home for the aged, or wherever her work takes the Sister in life of obedience and sacrifice.

Mass over, the procession retired to the strains of "Holy God We Praise Thy Name".

The Sisters then posed for pictures before going to the school dining room for the banquet.

The room was beautiful in its decorations of white and gold.

In the afternoon a reception was held in the auditorium. Crowds of relatives and friends came to greet the Sisters, to renew friendships and wish them well for the future.

Labor Day Record Changes Governor's Thinking on New Law

JEFFERSON CITY — A good Labor Day traffic safety record has caused Gov. James T. Blair to think Missouri's new speed law may be a good thing after all.

The governor said he was dubious about the new law originally but signed it as "a step in the right direction."

Thursday, in letters to Colonel Hugh Waggoner, Highway Patrol superintendent, and state department heads, Blair said it was apparent the new law played a part in cutting Missouri's Labor Day death toll from 27 last year to six this year.

He urged rigid enforcement to bring "an even greater reduction of deaths on our highways and a new era in traffic safety in our state."

Limit Is Set On Soil Bank Pay Per Farm

Word has just been received from Washington that Soil Bank Acreage Reserve payments in 1958 will be limited to $3000 per producer for each farm, according to Joe A. Grant, administrative officer of the Missouri State ASC.

This ruling means that no producer can be paid more than $300 per farm for all cropland eligible for the 1958 Acreage Reserve.

For land put into the Soil Bank Conservation Reserve, the top annual payment allowed is $5000, Grant said.

Last year there was no limitation on the amount of land a farmer could sign up under Acreage Reserve contracts, and a few payments in Missouri amounted to more than $10,000 per farm.

The Acreage Reserve is designed to take crop land which is usually devoted to basic crops out of production in order to cut down on the surpluses which have lowered farm incomes.

Any farmer who has an "old farm" allotment for one or more of the basic crops—corn, wheat, cotton, tobacco, or rice—can put his allotment acreage into the Acreage Reserve for one year and receive payment about equal to the net income he would have made by producing a crop on that land. These payments vary by counties and individual farms according to the type of cropland enrolled.

In general, a producer can put his entire allotment acreage into the Acreage Reserve, as long as the payment on all commodities does not total more than $3000.

Her condition was described as good. The former Virginia Ruth Egnor is married to Danny Dayton, an actor. They have no children.
